

MICROTREAT 2100

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION & BENEFITS

MICROTREAT 2100 is a non-oxidizing, liquid antimicrobial formulation with broad-spectrum biocidal activity, ideal for use in large open cooling systems and similar water bodies. It prevents biofilm growth on heat exchangers and evaporative surfaces, controls planktonic microorganisms in the bulk fluid, and is non-foaming and compatible with non-ionic, cationic and anionic chemicals. This product is effective across a wide pH range and is readily biodegradable.

TREATMENT AND DOSAGE REQUIREMENTS

MICROTREAT 2100 maintains non-biofouled systems in that condition and also controls planktonic activity. MICROTREAT 2100 is shot dosed manually or automatically at 100 ml/m of system capacity. Frequency of dosing will normally be weekly but will depend upon the operating characteristics of the particular plant, such as its tendency to bio fouling and its retention time and will be determined by BCI sales Engineer.
